

This response was submitted to the consultation held by the Nuffield Council on Bioethics on Give and take? Human bodies in medicine and research between April 2010 and July 2010. The views expressed are solely those of the respondent(s) and not those of the Council.

Not had time to read how this should be submitted. But if you are after feedback on ideas. Then I think it completely ethical for priority to receive organs to be given to those that are prepared to donate.

With priority also given to children. i.e. bottom of the list adults that have not been prepared to donate.
